

6-MONTH REVENUE OPTIMIZATION PLAN

Bona Fide Nitro Coffee & Bag-in-Box

Turning strong organic traffic into revenue growth — without a paid ad budget — by fixing conversion architecture, not acquisition.

Grow revenue without growing traffic

Strong SEO authority already brings 1,700 visitors a month. The opportunity isn't more traffic — it's converting the traffic already there.

1,700/mo

Current organic traffic — the base we're optimizing

34/mo

New customers at a 2% conversion rate

200+

Additional customers projected over 6 months

STRATEGIC FOCUS

Monetize existing organic authority before pursuing traffic expansion — through conversion architecture, ICP clarity, commercial-intent SEO, funnel segmentation, and email monetization.

This isn't a traffic problem

The brand has domain authority, consistent traffic, and validated product quality. What's missing is a clear path from visit to purchase.

CURRENT SITUATION

- Strong SEO domain authority
- Consistent organic traffic
- Product quality already validated
- No paid budget, and Amazon margins aren't attractive

CORE PROBLEMS

- B2B and DTC messaging mixed together
- No clear funnel separation
- Weak conversion psychology; underused email system
- Bag-in-Box category misunderstood, equipment positioning confusing buyers

Two markets, two funnels

Bona Fide serves two genuinely different buyers — treating them as one has been diluting both.

ICP A — B2B NITRO KEGS (core revenue)

- Buyers: coffee shops, breweries, bars, restaurants, hotels, event caterers
- Pain: want nitro coffee on tap, no nitrogen tank setup or complex installation
- Decision-makers: owners, beverage directors, purchasing managers

ICP B — BAG-IN-BOX (education market)

- Buyers: office managers, remote workers, Airbnb hosts, households, small businesses
- Pain: want convenience and premium taste, no brewing, no pods
- Barrier: "coffee in a box = low quality" perception requires active market education

From one blended message to two clear ones

B2B — INSTEAD OF

"Premium Nitro Beverage Brand"

WE POSITION AS

"Nitro Coffee On Tap — Without Nitrogen Tanks"

BAG-IN-BOX — INSTEAD OF

"Bulk Coffee in a Box"

WE POSITION AS

"Barista-Level Coffee. No Brewing Required."

SITE STRUCTURE

The homepage currently blends everything together. We split it into two dedicated ecosystems — [For Businesses] leading to a wholesale-focused B2B funnel with ROI and case studies, and [For Home & Office] leading to a taste/convenience-led DTC funnel with subscription offers.

From branded traffic to commercial keywords

Currently, most traffic is branded. Domain authority allows fast ranking on 10–15 new focused commercial pages.

B2B KEYWORDS

- nitro coffee supplier
- nitro cold brew wholesale
- nitro coffee for cafés
- private label nitro coffee
- cold brew keg distributor

BAG-IN-BOX KEYWORDS

- coffee in a box
- 3 liter cold brew
- bulk cold brew for office
- alternative to K-cups
- cold brew cost comparison

IMMEDIATE CRO FIXES

Separate the funnels clearly, replace equipment-selling focus with outcome-led messaging, add a strong above-fold CTA and social proof near it, include ROI comparison charts, and simplify mobile UX and store layout.

Retention is the fastest lever left untouched

Email is currently underused — and can lift revenue 20–30% on its own.

B2B EMAIL FLOWS

- Wholesale follow-up
- Education sequence
- Distributor onboarding
- Case study nurture

DTC EMAIL FLOWS

- Welcome series
- Product education
- Abandoned cart
- Subscription retention

MONTH 1–2

Foundation

- Funnel separation
- Homepage redesign
- Core B2B & Bag-in-Box landing pages
- Email flows implemented

MONTH 3–4

Commercial Expansion

- Launch 6–8 intent pages
- Publish supporting articles
- Add case studies
- Optimize internal linking

MONTH 5–6

Optimization & Scale

- Refine top pages & CTAs
- Strengthen SEO clusters
- Expand commercial keywords
- Introduce lead magnets

What success looks like, and where it could slip

1.5–2%

Improved conversion rate target

$30K+

Projected 6-month incremental revenue, no added ad spend

20–30%

Revenue lift expected from structured email automation

Bag-in-Box adoption speed

Category education takes time.

Mitigation: prioritize commercial intent, convert before scaling traffic

B2B sales cycle variability

Wholesale decisions move slower than DTC.

Mitigation: structured, persistent follow-up systems

Limited content budget

Constrains how fast new pages can launch.

Mitigation: structured internal linking to stretch existing content

Execution dependency

Plan requires consistent follow-through.

Mitigation: strong, repeatable follow-up systems

What this plan delivers

- Clear ICP separation between B2B and DTC audiences
- Stronger, outcome-based positioning for each
- Improved conversion rate and revenue per visitor
- Reduced reliance on Amazon as a sales channel
- Compounding organic growth, without added ad spend

Let's grow revenue, not just traffic.
